OUR COVER:

THE BENJAMIN ABBOT HOMESTEAD

Circa 1685

This home was erected by Benjamin Abbot probably at the time of his marriage to Sarah Farnum in 1685. It was a working farm of about 75 acres and provided almost everything his family needed. During the witchcraft hysteria Abbot testified that Martha Carrier had bewitched him with physical torment and his cattle with unaccountable calamities. In 1835 the house was used by students for an abolition meeting. Its major importance is in its near original architectural and structural condition. It has escaped extensive modernization during its lifetime so its Seventeenth and early Eighteenth Century features are intact.
